The Enemy! By Mona Charen, Syndicated Columnist

Imagine for a moment that all reporting about the U.S. war on terrorism was presented without reference to Sept. 11. American attacks from the air using B-52s and F-16s against fighters armed with smaller weapons would seem quite disproportionate. Our stated intention to kill as many members of Al Qaeda as possible might be condemned, by our own Department of State, as "excessive" and "contributing to the cycle of violence." But U.S. actions are never presented that way, because everyone acknowledges that we have the perfect right to defend ourselves against those who have done us grave harm. Nor are we asked to sit by and wait for our enemies to do us even more catastrophic damage if they get the chance.

But when it comes to the Israeli/ Palestinian conflict, the context is removed. Bleeding Israel is daily exhorted to stop contributing to the cycle of violence. Her teenagers are blown to bits at discotheques. Her babies are approached outside a synagogue by a suicide bomber who waits until he is next to the strollers before blowing himself apart. Her adolescent boys who wander off in the desert and get lost are torn to pieces. And all of this is applauded and celebrated by Yasser Arafat and most of the Arab governments in the region.

Some Arabs (those among the minority who acknowledge that Arabs are Israelis are demoralized and terrified. Restaurants and shops are nearly empty. And alone among nations ( CONTINUED ON PAGE 3

We have all been had!

By Sharon Nader Sloan, WorldNetDaily

Did you know that there was never any country called Palestine? Did you know that there is no such thing as a Palestinian people?

The ideas that the West Bank and Gaza are occupied Palestinian land, and that the Palestinian people are fighting for their land, have been accepted by most of the governments of the world and by most of the media in the world. But if you read on, you will see that these two claims are the biggest lies ever deliberately perpetrated on humanity.

Check out any map of the Middle East and see for yourself. You will find Palestine listed as a region as it always has been, but definitely not a country. We can locate the Mojave Desert on the map, but we still do Dispense with many Doubting Thomases' skepticism that the Bible's creation "fantasy" is impossible to reconcile with dinosaur bones, fossils and carbon dating. Nuclear physicist Dr. Gerald Schroeder explains time dilation — how time has shrunk since the Big Bang — and bridges the perceived differences between science and Scripture. Science echoes the Biblical sequence of events that follow during our planet's first week.

The Universe had a Beginning — Scientist Gerald Schroeder introduces his theory that equates generallyaccepted observations of science with the creation account recorded in Genesis 1.

Relatively Speaking — Gerald presents Zola with scientific evidence proving that time is not a constant. Similar to how astronauts weigh less on the moon versus the earth, experiments have shown that atomic clocks actually go slower on high-speed aircraft. Since the universe is expanding, time can be perceived differently in different locations.

Tuned for Life — Science hypothesizes that the universe has expanded a million million times. Dividing 15 billion (the number of years as observed by science) by a million million equals .015 years, or approximately six days.

Day One of Creation — Using the Bible's Hebrew translation, Gerald and Zola analyze the first day of the creation account. Out of a chaotic system, humanity will on day six.

Days Two and Three of Creation — Genesis 1:6-13 reveals that a firmament was created, water was formed and then life began on earth. Science echoes this sequence of events and each one's place in time, according to Gerald's computations.

Day Four of Creation — The sun, moon and stars can now be seen, but how could this occur on day four? The words evening and morning in English when compared to their Hebrew roots, chaos and orderly, reveal the overall trend of creation. Random evolution is proven impossible.

Days Five and Six of Creation — Science proposes an explosion of life that fits in sequence and time placement with the Biblical narrative and Gerald's computations. Science doesn't have a clue as to what brought our universe into being; only that there was a creation.

Creation Reviewed — Zola reviews Gerald Schroeder's comparisons between the observations of science and the creation account of Genesis 1. Technologically, we are only now coming to the point of finding out how true and accurate the Bible really is.

Genesis One Video and Study Booklet

Gerald Schroeder, a Bible-believing Israeli nuclear physicist, talked about the six days of creation before our tour groups and simply amazed them. We decided to utilize our own cameramen and professional equipment to create this video. This is not a Zola Levitt Presents program with music, interruptions, etc. Instead, you will enjoy seventy-seven minutes of scientific reasoning that may very well change the way you look at creation. Nicely complements our Evidence of God TV series. Please see page 15 to order.

apparently, Israel is not permitted to engage in simple self-defense.

Nearly every dispatch from the Mid-dle East lacks basic context. Here are some of the facts to keep in mind when reading these flawed reports.

- The PLO was not formed in order to secure a Palestinian state on the West Bank and Gaza. It was created in 1964, when both territories were under Arab sovereignty. Jordan and Egypt did not create a state for the Palestinians because they preferred to keep the refugees angry and homeless.

- It is not "Palestinian land." There has never been an independent Palestinian state on the land between the Mediterranean and the Jordan River. The area — which always contained Arabs and Jews — was under Ottoman control for several hundred vears until World War I. then British control under the League of Nations Mandate and finally under United Nations control.

The United Nations approved a partition plan in 1947 that would have created two states. one Jewish and one Arab. The Jews accepted this arrangement. The Arabs refused. Five Arab armies invaded the new state of Israel. In the ensuing war, thousands of refugees fled. Jews fled Arab nations for Israel, and Arabs fled Israel for Jordan, Egypt and Lebanon. The Jewish refugees became full citizens of Israel. The Palestinian refugees became pawns. Israel came into possession of the West Bank and Gaza only because she was attacked again by five Arab armies in 1967.

- If the Palestinians are fighting for a state on the West Bank and Gaza, why do their maps show Palestine as filling the entire territory that is now Israel? Why do they marinate their people in Hitlerian anti-Semitism and anti-Americanism? Further, why ---when Ehud Barak offered just such a state, or 95 percent of it - did Arafat walk away and start this latest round of violence? Palestinian spokesmen say it wasn't everything they wanted. But if they truly want a separate state on so-called "occupied territory," why did Barak's offer not form the basis for further talks?

 The Palestinians are said to be chafing under the "occupation." But in obedience to the Oslo process, Israel has given administrative authority over 98 percent of the Palestinians in the disputed territories to Arafat. Israel has further permitted the Palestinian Authority to arm 40,000 "police."

Crown Prince Abdullah Bin Abdul Aziz of Saudia Arabia arrives March 26, 2002 for the Arab Summit beginning in Beirut, Lebanon.

 If the Saudi "peace plan" were serious — and not an attempt to divert attention from the Saudi role in 9-11 and its sponsorship of Islamic extremism worldwide - why didn't Saudi Arabia offer it before?

- Why is it impossible for the Palestinian Authority to give Israel what Sharon has demanded — just three days of respite from terror attacks?

not recognize it as our 51st state, let alone a country. Similarly, the region of Siberia is a region not a state. Or the Sahara is a region not a state, etc. Neither is Palestine a state. It never was a country, just a region.

Importantly, the Jews did not displace anyone, because no one permanently resided there. It was a land inhabited by nomadic, Bedouin tribes. The whole region was nothing but deserts and swamps. Only about 120,000 Arabs resided in an area that covered the territories, the state of Israel and Jordan. When Mark Twain visited the area, he wrote he found nothing but a wasteland.

During the 19 years that the territories - including Jerusalem and Gaza - were occupied by the kingdoms of Jordan and Egypt, no one talked about a Palestinian state ... not the Arab countries, not the United Nations. Nobody asked Jordan or Egypt to abdicate their ownership and give it to the Palestinians. Not even the Palestinians themselves said anything about a Palestinian state or a Palestinian people, because nobody heard of a Palestinian people. It never existed.

The fact simply is that there are no Palestinians. These people are Arabs like all other Arabs, and they happen to live in a region called Palestine. They are not a separate people.

What makes a separate people? Religion, language, culture, garb, cuisine, etc. The Arabs in Palestine speak the same language, practice the same religion, have the same culture, etc., as all the other Arabs. The few minor differences that exist between them are like the minor differences that exist between the Welsh, the Scots, and the Londoners. They are still all Britons. Yankees and Southerners have the same minor differences, but they are still all Americans. People in the south of France are quite different from the people in the north, but they are still all French. These inconsequential differences do not make a people.

CNN is Getting Foxed

According to the Wall Street Journal article "Outfoxed," Fox News Channel attracted more viewers than CNN during the month of January. Fox News averaged 656,000 viewers over a 24-hour time period, while CNN averaged only 596,000, and MSNBC averaged 296,000. In primetime, Fox News averaged just over one million viewers, compared with 921,000 for CNN and 358,000 for MSNBC. Fox is incomparably more fair in reporting events in Israel than CNN, which constantly criticizes our sister democracy. Dear Friends,

R ecently a churchgoer made the comment, "You know, it really seems like Jesus is standing right at the door." She went on to say (in a whisper just before a service) that when she stated this to others in the congregation, they responded with surprise, disbelief, and sometimes a look that said, "That sounds heretical."

Why? You and I know what this dear Christian meant. The Lord is coming for His Bride — the Rapture of the Church. Scripture teaches it. Current events increasingly cast light on the approaching End Times scenario as outlined in the Bible. But this believer, a member of an evangelical, Biblebelieving congregation, nonetheless felt she had to whisper her wonder and excitement at the prospect of the Lord's soon return, all because her church does not believe in the literal interpretation of Scripture when it comes to Israel and prophecy. How tragic!

Shouldn't everyone be thrilled with the imminent return of our Lord? You would think so. But who's talking about prophecy anymore? Churches either say that it's ancient history or relegate it to allegory. Seminaries continue to eliminate it from their curriculum or repackage prophecy so that it's more palatable to prospective students (and donors) with divergent views. Read Tom McCall's article on page 12 to see exactly how Moody has done this.

Hal Lindsey and I were chatting recently about the lack of End Times prophecy teachers on the scene today. We look behind us and seldom find younger teachers taking up the baton to continue Paul's "good race" to unashamedly proclaim the prophetic Scriptures to the next generation. "What if we're it?" Hal commented. What if there are so few teachers in the ranks because time is simply running out before the Rapture? Only the Lord knows, but it seems to me that the Lord is indeed right at the door,

A Note From Zola

and as John beseeched Him, "Come quickly, Lord Jesus!"

On the heels of our perfectly peaceful tour of the Holy Land in March, I continue to be amazed at the disproportionate coverage of the conflict in Israel. When compared to hotspots like India (where recently 100 people a day were being killed in Muslim-Hindu riots), or Indonesia (where Laskar Jihad, an al Qaidasupported terrorist army, continues to butcher Christians and other non-Muslims), or even New York City, home to roughly 800 murders each year, why is Israel the focus of the world's attention? Why are there not hundreds of international correspondents roaming the streets of New York City to cover its daily bloodshed?

Before I leave for Israel I read the papers and watch the news. I see scenes of what looks like warfare. But when I'm actually walking the streets in Jerusalem or Tel Aviv or any number of other cities where we take our pilgrims, I see none of this. Our passengers see none of this, and they never have in 30 years of touring.

Six million Israeli citizens see none of this. You watch the scene of a shooting in Gaza on CNN and believe that the entire nation is aflame. But most Israelis are not even aware of the news. They've been at work all day, doing their jobs as usual, and don't hear about most of these incidents until their evening news. Frankly, with CNN and the New York Times, Israel doesn't need any more enemies.

Our friend Mrs. Gerald Schroeder relayed to us recently that when CNN correspondent Ben Wedeman was shot and wounded in the Palestinian areas, the Palestinian hospital was unable to help him. So he was transferred to Hadassah Hospital in Jerusalem, where Mrs. Schroeder visited him. Jewish doctors there operated and treated the wounds successfully. However, when Mr. Wedeman returned to the U.S., whom did he thank? That's right. His Palestinian doctors. And you wonder why you're not getting balanced coverage from CNN!

A few have written and told me to stop talking about the news and get back to teaching the Bible. Well, I continue to teach the Bible on our programs and through our literature and in my conference ministry every month. But I also recognize the responsibility the > Lord has given me to not sit idly by while God's people are victims of lies and misinformation from powerful media elites or even from our own government. Dr. James Dobson of Focus on the Family recently came under fire by some who believe that evangelical broadcasters should stay out of politics and social issues. After giving a litany of examples in which America's families are now coming under attack, Dr. Dobson offered some no-nonsense arguments for getting involved.

"Lives Could Have Been Saved..."

Saudi Arabia's religious police are reported to have forced schoolgirls back into a blazing building because they were not wearing Islamic headscarves and black robes.

Saudi newspapers said scuffles broke out between firemen and members of the Commission for the Promotion of Virtue and Prevention of Vice who tried to keep the girls inside a burning school in Mecca.

Fifteen girls were killed as they stampeded to escape from the blazing building in the Muslim holy city. Saudi media and families of the victims have been angry over the deaths of the girls in the fire that gutted the school. The resulting public criticism of the religious police, or mutaween, is highly unusual.

The English-language Saudi Gazette, in a front-page report yesterday quoted witnesses as saying that members of the religious police stopped men who tried to help the girls escape from the building, saying: "It is sinful to approach them."

A civil defence officer told an Arabic-language newspaper, al-Eqtisadiah, that he saw three members of the religious police "beating young girls to prevent them from leaving the school because they were not wearing the abaya." He added: "We told them that the situation was very critical and did not allow for such behaviour. But they shouted at us and refused to move away from the gates."

The father of one of the dead girls alleged that the school watchman refused to open the gate to let the girls out.

"Lives could have been saved had they not been stopped by members of the Commission for Promotion of Virtue and Prevention of Vice," the Saudi Gazette said.

The much-feared mutaween roam the streets of the conservative kingdom wielding sticks to enforce dress codes and sex segregation and to ensure that Islamic prayers are performed on time.

Those who refuse to obey the orders of the religious police are usually beaten and sometimes jailed. ■

Saudi Money Finances Indonesian Bloodshed

By Anthony C. LoBaido, WorldNetDaily

While Indonesia has suffered at the hands of outsiders at times during the last 50 years, it is the Islamic crackdown on the minority Christians that is the nation's greatest scourge, say local believers.

...Pastor Richard Fu, a Baptist who lives on the shores of Lake Toba [Sumatra island], told WorldNetDaily that the Islamic jihad in Sumatra and Indonesia "finds its roots in foreign money, ideology and training in places like Saudi Arabia, Afghanistan and Pakistan.

"Why does America bomb Afghanistan but fete the leaders of Saudi Arabia, who are the real head of the snake?" he asked. ■

Evangelist Apologizes for Anti-Semitic Comments

Billy Graham Evangelistic Association

The National Archives recently released conversations... I had with President Nixon and his Chief of Staff, H. R. Haldeman, more than 30 years ago.

I had scores of conversations with Mr. Nixon in which we discussed every conceivable subject. However, I cannot imagine what caused me to make those comments, which I totally repudiate. Whatever the reason, I was wrong for not disagreeing with the President, and I sincerely apologize to anyone I have offended.

...I humbly ask the Jewish community to reflect on my actions on behalf of Jews over the years that contradict my words in the Oval Office that day.

In the Bible we read, "Above all else, guard your heart; for it is the wellspring of life. Put away perversity from your mouth; keep corrupt talk from your lips" (Proverbs 4:22, 23). That is true for me as much as anyone else. Every day I have to renew my heart before God, and ask for His grace and strength.

...I take daily comfort in the Psalmist's words in the Old Testament: "The LORD is merciful and gracious, slow to anger, and plenteous in mercy" (Psalm 103:8). Every year during their High Holy Days, the Jewish community reminds us all of our need for repentance and forgiveness. God's mercy and grace give me hope — for myself, and for our world.

Anti-Missionary Law Voted Down

Israel Today

By a vote of seven to five, the Knesset Law Committee rejected the so-called "anti-missionary" bill proposed by ultra-Orthodox parliamentarian Moshe Gafni. The law proposes that distribution of material — from tracts, to emails to faxes — which encourages a Jew to change his faith, is punishable by a three-month prison term. Gafni has tried and failed three times to pass the legislation.

The attorney general's office described the bill as "antidemocratic." Law Committee chairman Ofer Pines said he would support the law only if Orthodox Jews who try to get secular Israelis to become observant would also be subject to prosecution.

Messianic Jewish leaders believe that while there's cause for concern, the Lord has everything under control. Since the establishment of the state of Israel, no Israeli has ever been arrested for speaking with another Israeli about Jesus!

Red Crescent Ambulance Caught With Explosives

Jerusalem Post

Reserve soldiers at a mobile roadblock today captured a Palestinian Red Crescent ambulance driver who was caught transporting an explosive belt of the type detonated by suicide bombers, Israel Radio reported.

The ambulance was stopped and searched between Nablus and Ramallah, and soldiers found the explosive belt under a stretcher upon which a Palestinian boy was lying. The boy's family was with him in the ambulance.

The ambulance driver, Islam Jibril, a resident of the Balata refugee camp near Nablus, told interrogators he received the belt from Muhammad Titti, a senior Tanzim activist close to Palestinian Authority West Bank security chief Marwan Barghouti.

The belt contained some 10 kilograms of explosives. IDF sappers detonated it in a controlled explosion. ■

Don't Fake This War

By Zola Levitt

The Passover massacre at the Park Hotel in Netanya which killed at least 21 and wounded more than 130 will undoubtedly provide one more nail in the coffin of Yasser Arafat and the PLO. Targeting unarmed civilians — women, children, grandmothers, etc. — on a religious holy day demonstrates the unfettered cowardice of Israel's neighbors.

In 66 AD the Jewish population revolted against the Roman Empire who, in turn, laid siege to Jerusalem on Passover. Under the command of General Titus, the Roman army decimated the Jews and destroyed the city in 70 AD, plundering the Temple of its valuables. The Palestinians have followed suit, just like the Arab world did on October 6, 1973 when they attacked Israel on Yom Kippur.

In the midst of this bloodshed, the unanimous vote of Arab leaders in Lebanon to, in essence, destabilize the security of Israel through the Saudi's so-called peace plan, underscores the callousness of the Arab world toward the Jewish people. They simply do not want peace for Israel; they want death for Israel. Yasser Arafat's own map replaces the entire Jewish state with his Palestine.

Now the world sees once more that Yasser Arafat will do anything to disrupt peace for his own people and bring destruction to Israel. I've said it before, and I don't know any other way to say it: It is impossible to make peace with Yasser Arafat or the PLO. All the ideas in the world, whether from the U.S. or the Arabs or whomever, will not provide genuine steps toward peace.

Likewise, with the general war on terrorism, it is utterly hopeless to make any kind of coalition with Arabs anywhere. They condemned us in their recent summit. Dithering around in Afghanistan is simply giving them time to prepare their next attack on us. President Bush's war against "the evil ones" is rather like his "march to peace" in Israel. Both only exist in his speeches.

Let me repeat what I said on September 12: If we fake this war on terrorism, we'll lose it. The world will enter a new dark age under Islam. So far we have pretty much been faking it. ■

"The message Palestinian terrorists are sending us is crystal clear: We will murder you at every opportunity, in every place, at any time — even on your holiest days." — Benjamin Netanyahu Dear Dr. Levitt:

I am a frequent listener and a fellow believer in Jesus Christ. Recently, on your broadcast "Thy Kingdom Come" you made a statement which concerned me.

Near the end of the program you mentioned you frequently argue with people to try it; "believing in Christ" couldn't hurt.

Jesus is not something you can just try. Without complete, unquestionable faith and belief and love can they understand Jesus Christ's love, mercy and grace? — CH

Dear CH:

I don't seriously think anyone would just "try" Jesus, nor was that the point I tried to make. Please understand that there are many people who are simply afraid to take the first step in coming to God. And I'm trying to get them over their fear of talking to Him about salvation. — Zola

Dear Zola:

"Try it."

The voices that are standing firm for dispensational teaching are fewer and fewer these days. My wife and I have just "retired" from 40 years of ministry in South America. I graduated from Dallas Seminary...and appreciate the good training I received from Brothers Walvoord, Ryrie, Pentecost, etc. Dr. Pentecost's heart must be very sad as he sees the school drifting more and more rapidly away from its fundamental moorings. Just as at Moody, graduates do not have to subscribe to the school's doctrinal statement to graduate. Around 70 denominations are represented among the graduates, United Church of Christ, et al.

A former general director of our mission spoke several years ago at Moody at which time he made some candid statements about Catholicism. After the meetings he was accosted by several irate students who informed him that "Catholics were just as good Christians as you are, so there!" We certainly live in the Laodicean age of the Church.

We appreciate your good ministry. God bless your stead-fastness! — CT

Dear CT:

I am sometimes taken to task for exposing the doctrinal slides of the big Bible schools, as if I alone have some gripe about them. The truth is that we receive more letters from folks like you than our readers imagine. You know the schools firsthand and confirm that the evidence we've Some letters have been edited for space.

presented is valid. Until the administrations of those seminaries are replaced, we will stay at this task. Israel and End Times prophecy in general are issues far too important to be in the hands of those who presently run our seminaries. Thank you for your faithful service to the Lord. — Zola

Dear Zola:

I am Jewish and I have seen your show. I appreciate your support of Israel, but I don't quite understand your attempt to convert us to Christianity. How can you realistically expect any Jew to convert to a religion that has persecuted them for over 1500 years? I cannot personally convert to a religion that does not practice what it preaches — love, forgiveness, etc. If Jesus is the Messiah, so be it, but like Him I follow the God of Israel. — RL

Dear RL:

The unfortunate actions of certain denominations ought not to deter you from seriously examining the offer of salvation from Yeshua. Consider the Christlike actions of many Gentile believers who literally put their lives on the line to hide, feed, clothe, and protect Jews during World War II (Corrie Ten Boom, for example). Even today, I have firsthand knowledge that Bible-believing Christians are really the only ones who care to visit Israel. Jews living outside the country are themselves staying away. Consider, too, that the Old Testament is replete with examples of leaders (King Ahab, for example) who led the Jewish people away from God, away from the teachings of Moses, causing them to suffer His wrath for their idolatry. You do not denounce the Old Testament because of these examples, do you? God is offering you more than just a great earthly heritage as a son of Abraham. He's offering eternal life through the Jewish Messiah, the Suffering Servant of Isaiah 53.

Let me put it this way: I feel as if I've won the lottery (spiritually speaking), and I want to tell you how you can win it, too. The Jewish life in the Messiah is such a pleasure (not to mention the life to come) that I simply have to share it! — Zola

"I feel as if I've won the lottery" The Arabs living in Syria or Jordan, etc., are also the same Arabs, but they are each a separate nation because they each have a separate country. The so-called Palestinians want a separate country because they claim to be a separate nation. They are not. They were never a separate people before the new state of Israel. How did they become one now?

Because of these lies, the so-called Palestinians feel justified in sending suicide bombers to kill women, children, babies, old men, old women and noncombatant citizens. Because of these lies, the United Nations and the media of the world are condemning Israel who is acting less harshly than any other country would act in retaliation for such heinous attacks. What is the United States doing in Afghanistan, a totally foreign country? Killing Afghanistanis. Why? Because they attacked us on Sept. 11. I understand this. But why do they not understand that that is exactly what Israel is doing, only on a much smaller scale?

Ask yourself this: Should the use of terror ever be rewarded? When is the use of terrorism justified as a military tactic? As a political tactic? As an economic tactic? What implications does this hold for future conflicts?

Let us examine the truths here:

1) There never was a Palestinian state or a Palestinian nation. There are no Palestinian people, per se. Rather, these are Arabs living in a region that historically has been called many things, including "Palestine."

2) Israel did not go to war against a Palestinian state and occupy its land. Rather, Israel was attacked by six Arab countries at once. She defended herself, defeated her attackers, and won the so-called territories, not from the Palestinians, but from Jordan and Egypt.

3) Jerusalem was never the capital of any state but Israel. It was certainly never the capital of a country that never existed. Why should the Palestinians get any part of it? Because they want it? Because they have terrorists?

4) Jerusalem, under the current Israeli control, is a free and open city. Israel, as a democracy, guarantees freedom of religion within its borders. Contrast this fact with areas that have come under Palestinian occupation. What percentage of Christians have left in recent years because they cannot stand the harassment and persecution?

5) Most Arabs living in Palestine today are not indigenous to the region. It was not until after the Jews had changed deserts and swamps into a productive and thriving land that the Arabs started migrating there. Arafat himself was born and raised in Cairo, Egypt. Did you know that?

The belief that giving the Palestinians a state will bring peace is a delusion. The truth is that they want it all. The short-term goal is a state consisting of the West Bank and Gaza. The long-term goal is a state which includes all of "historical Palestine," including Jordan.

How do I know this?

The late Faisal Husseini, Arafat's Jerusalem representative, a man who was cultured, sophisticated and considered the most moderate of all the Palestinians, shortly before his death on May 31, 2001, expressed his true feelings in an interview with the popular Egyptian newspaper el Arav. Husseini said: "We must distinguish the strategies and long-term goals from the political-phased goals which we are compelled to accept due to international pressures."

But the "ultimate goal is the liberation of all of historical Palestine." Explicitly he said: "Oslo has to be viewed as a Trojan Horse."

He even added and clarified that it is the obligation of all the Palestinian forces and factions to see the Oslo Accords as "temporary" steps, as "gradual" goals, because in this way, "We are setting an ambush for the Israelis and cheating them." He also differentiated between "strategic," long-term, "higher" goals, and "political" short-term goals dependent on "the current international establishment, balance of power" etc.

All of historical Palestine! Does not this include all of Israel and all of Jordan? What does this say to you? ■

Save the Garden Tomb!

The Garden Tomb is, of course, one of the highlights of every tour we take to Israel. But on our last visit in March, we discovered that this sacred site is in dire need of financial help. The gardener actually took us on the tour. The slump in tourism, affecting all of Israel, has taken a big chunk of resources from the Garden Tomb and, consequently, they're having to cut back on their hours, staff, and tours, though they did gladly welcome our group again.

This empty tomb is one tangible proof to the world that the Messiah is alive. How tragic it would be if its doors were to close! If you would like to contribute to keeping the Garden Tomb open, please consider donating to the fund we've established for this purpose. Please specify "Garden Tomb" with your donation and we'll make sure to forward your gifts to Jerusalem. Thank you. ■

Dear Zola Levitt Ministries:

I was fully awakened after hearing [about] California school children's required study of the Moslem tradition, faith, and custom.

The evil militant Islamists have diverted (shadowed their real motives) by sending the United States running in every direction all over the world when they should begin cleaning the evil out [here]. — KR

Dear KR:

Our nation is just now waking up to the subtle infiltration from people who have as their goal the destruction of the United States and the slaughter of the "infidels," as they call us. We should be fighting terrorism overseas, but we also ought to be rounding up and deporting those in this land tied to the evil of terrorism. And let Israel fight its own battle against Palestinian terrorism. — Zola

Orlando, Eureka Springs, and West

Zola's tours of The Holy Land Experience in Orlando, Florida, have again surpassed our viewers' and readers' expectations. Would you prefer the weekend of May 10 or May 17, Mother's Day or Pentecost? For the weekdays May 13-17, we are providing a series of other sites and attractions in the area. We also plan a Father's Day weekend tour (June 14-16) of the Passion Play and Israel sites at Eureka Springs, Arkansas. In July and August, Zola will be in Colorado, the Northwest and California, available for speaking engagements in churches without the usual reimbursement for travel. For more information, please call Tony at (214) 696-9760 during office hours. You may also leave a message with our answering service at 1-800-WONDERS (966-3377) anytime. ■

A Word About Bible Translations By Lawrence Ford, Staff Theologian

In previous issues we discussed the importance of having several Bible translations available to assist you in Bible study. Because most of us do not read fluently from the original Hebrew and Greek texts of the Scriptures, we must rely upon translations in English. Thus, having two or three good English Bibles in front of us can give a greater sense of the nuance or color of the words translated into English. But care must be taken when choosing good translations.

This year Zondervan Publishing is introducing a new Bible, The New International Version (TNIV). It is touted by the company to be easier to read and accurate, but on closer examination is found to be merely a politicallycorrect version of the God's Word. In fact, this new version is now the subject of great debate among Bible scholars and Christian leaders, as it was in 1997.

Five years ago, Zondervan, in cooperation with IBS (International Bible Society), tried to revise the current NIV translation to make it gender-neutral. In other words, the original words of the Bible were changed so that instead of reading "he" you would read "they"; instead of reading "men," you would read "people." Many conservative Bible scholars believe this to be the result of the rising influence of the feminist agenda in the Church. Here is just one of many examples of how this change affects even the fact that Jesus is a man (I Timothy 3:5):

"For there is one God and one mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus..." (the original NIV)

"For there is one God and one mediator between God and human beings, Christ Jesus, himself human..." (the new TNIV)

When Zondervan proposed these changes in 1997 there was such an outcry from pastors and scholars that the publisher aborted its plans for the revision and signed an agreement in Colorado Springs that it would not change the NIV Bible in this manner. Now, five years later, Zondervan has withdrawn their agreement and is pushing ahead with the new "translation."

Christian leaders again are making their voices heard on the issue, but it is unlikely Zondervan will listen this time. The Southern Baptist denomination has issued a statement indicating they may discontinue use of even the original NIV in churches. I stated previously that among translations like the KJV and the NASB, one can make use of the NIV in personal Bible study. However, I won't be purchasing a TNIV when it's released in April and I don't recommend it for accurate study of the Scriptures. And I doubt I'll be buying anymore Zondervan books in the future. ■

Churches Beware: Your Recent Moody Graduate May Be an Amillennialist

Last month we examined the deliberate changes made in Moody Bible Institute's doctrinal statement which have drastic implications upon its faculty, students, and ultimately upon well-meaning churches that wish to have a Moody graduate as their pastor. The new statement, crafted in large part by the school's new provost, Dr. Charles Dyer, is what I would call "prophetically neutral" due to the fact that it has eliminated the need to believe in the doctrines upon which the school was founded. Let's take a look at Moody's new statement of faith.

The 2001-2002 Moody Catalog has the following statement concerning requirements for students:

However, the school also recognizes that its specific theological positions do not define orthodoxy for the whole body of Christ. For this reason, Moody Bible Insti-tute accepts students from other theological traditions within conservative evangelicalism. However, to be ad-mitted and to graduate students must personally adhere to and support the following doctrinal positions:

- The inspiration, authority and inerrancy of Scripture,
- The Trinity,
- The full deity and fully humanity of Christ,
- The creation of the human race in the image of God,
- The spiritual lostness of the human race,
- The substitutionary atonement and bodily resurrection of Christ,
- Salvation by grace through faith alone in Christ alone,
- The physical and imminent return of Christ, and
- The eternal reward of the righteous and the eternal judgment of the lost.

This is certainly orthodox and sounds good, at first, but is really quite vague on prophecy. It does not spell out the pre-Tribulation Rapture of the Church or anything about the Lord establishing His Kingdom on the earth for the Millennium. In the hands of clever scholars, these words can be used to support the pre-, mid- or post-Tribulation Rapture viewpoints, and even the pre-, postor a-Millennial interpretation of the Second Coming of Christ. Such a change allows many more people to attend the school and swell the student ranks — but at the cost of the school's losing some of its great doctrinal distinctives.

Thus, a student or graduate of Moody can hold almost any prophetic view and be in good standing at the school. This is why we say to the churches that just because pastoral candidates have recently graduated from Moody does not necessarily mean that they are sound on Bible prophecy. A-Millennialists, for instance, do not believe in the Rapture of the Church, the national restoration of Israel, or in a Millennial kingdom ruled by Christ Himself. To find out the candidate's convictions, the search committee should ask him to clarify his views on these important subjects. If he is evasive or unclear, this should be a warning to the church. The congregation may want an a-Millennialist for a pastor, but they need to know in advance what they are getting.

Sad to say, this is the situation in many of the formerly strong Dispensational schools. There are still some good schools and seminaries left, but you need to evaluate them carefully, and be very specific in your inquiries of those schools you attend or support. You might ask them two very specific questions:

Do you believe in the pre-Tribulation Rapture of the Church?

Do you believe that the current nation of Israel is the fulfillment of the early stages of the "dry bones" prophecy of Ezekiel, and that the beginning of the restoration of Israel is necessary for the fulfillment of the Tribulation, Second Coming and Millennial Bible prophecies?

How they respond to these questions will give you a clear understanding of how they stand on these crucial issues of Bible prophecy today. ■

Unhelpful Amnesia

By George F. Will, The Washington Post

The war on terrorism is suddenly going terribly wrong. Suicide bombers serving Yasser Arafat, the world's senior and most successful terrorist, have caused U.S. policy in the Middle East to buckle and become more accommodating. So more than six months into the war on terror, terror is more vindicated as a tactic than ever before.

Whether or not Vice President Cheney dashes back to the Middle East to parlay with Arafat, President Bush's policy has become incoherent. This damage was done by saying the vice presidential dash would be made if Arafat would recite (in Arabic; we are quite stern) a perfunctory lie scripted by the United States — yet another reiteration of his vow to abandon violence, which is the vocabulary of his life.

The president professes himself "disappointed" by Arafat. But what are the presidential expectations for Arafat?

It has been 37 years since his Fatah launched its first attack on Israel, which then (as when attempts were made to crush Israel in 1948, 1956 and in 1967) was within the 1967 borders that amnesiacs believe are the key to appeasing Arafat. Amnesiacs evidently believe that he wants only to be prime minister of a placid little Arab democracy, the only democracy in the Arab world, a sort of Middle Eastern Belgium. Amnesiacs evidently believe he can be mollified by removing Jewish settlements from the West Bank. His undisguised and unambiguous goal is to remove Jewish — what? "settlers"? — from Tel Aviv.

Amnesiacs should read the opening paragraphs of Michael Oren's forthcoming (in June) book, "Six Days of War: June 1967 and the Making of the Modern Middle East":

"Nighttime, December 31, 1964 — A squad of Palestinian guerrillas crosses from Lebanon into northern Israel. Armed with Soviet-made explosives, their uniforms supplied by the Syrians, they advance toward their target: a pump for conveying Galilee water to the Negev desert. A modest objective, seemingly, yet the Palestinians' purpose is immense.... Their action, they hope, will provoke an Israeli retaliation...igniting an all-Arab offensive to destroy the Zionist state." The explosives failed to detonate, but "the leader of al-Fatah, a 35-year-old former engineer from Gaza named Yasser Arafat, issues a victorious communique extolling 'the duty of Jihad (holy war)."

Arafat, writes Oren, had to have "a singularly limber imagination" to think that a small act of sabotage could trigger a war leading to the destruction of Israel. But give the devil his due: Arafat has been clear-sighted about the willful amnesia of the world's capitals, including Washington.

Not three months have passed since Israel captured, and Arafat lied to the president about, the ship bearing 50 tons of arms from Iran, a member of the "axis of evil," to Arafat. And yet today U.S. policymakers, with their singularly limber imaginations, imagine that it is important to coax from Arafat yet another disavowal of violence.

Palestinian leader Yasser Arafat (C) gives U.S. Middle East envoy Anthony Zinni (L) a gift from the town of Bethlehem, as they dine at Arafat's headquarters March 19, 2002 in the West Bank town of Ramallah. Zinni met with Arafat at the same time U.S. Vice President Dick Cheney was meeting with Israeli Prime Minister Ariel Sharon.

On "Meet the Press" on Sunday, Cheney was asked why there are suicide bombers. He replied, "I'm not sure I'm smart enough to understand it" but cited "the depth of feeling and emotion on the Palestinian side."

Does Cheney think suicide bombing could have something to do with virulent and incessant anti-Israel and anti-Semitic propaganda? Another broken Arafat promise is that the Palestinian Authority will stop this. Suicide bombers live in a social atmosphere heavily dosed with denial of the Holocaust, incitements to genocide, loathsome anti-Semitic libels (e.g., that Jews leaven pastry with the blood of non-Jewish adolescents), exhortations to the holy duty of destroying "the Zionist entity." Could the vice president not have leavened his musings with the thought that no grievance is fit for redress by shredding Jewish children with nail bombs?

The president says regimes that harbor terrorists are as culpable as the terrorists themselves. Yet although Israel has acted against the Palestinian Authority regime, the source of daily terrorism, less aggressively than America has acted against the Afghanistan regime that was complicit in one day of terrorism, the president has said Israel's self-defense is "not helpful."

Not helpful to what? To the Zinni mission for "bridging proposals" to reach the Tenet process for resuscitating the Mitchell plan for "confidence-building measures"? The Weekly Standard magazine recently concocted this parody of the president talking about "confidence-building" measures:

"Say Arafat sends a suicide bomber to blow up a pizzeria on Monday, and then a disco on Tuesday, but then on Wednesday he doesn't send anybody. That's a confidence-building measure!"

That parody is not easily distinguishable from U.S. policy. ■

What if it were 1943 and you were in Nazi Germany and you knew what Hitler was doing to the Jews and the Poles and the Gypsies and the homosexuals and to many other "undesirables"? You knew they were being gassed, you knew little children were lined up in the rain naked all day for their chance to go into the gas chambers. Would you say, "We're not political? That's somebody else's problem. I'm not called to address this?" I thank God that Dietrich Bonhoeffer did not give that answer. He was arrested by the Nazis and he was hanged in 1945, naked and alone, because he said, "This is not right."

John the Baptist said the same thing to Herod. He said, "It is not lawful for you to have your brother's wife." And it cost him his head.

Dobson relates this analogy given by Dr. Francis Schaeffer, the great Christian theologian and philosopher of the 20th century:

Suppose you were walking down the right side of a street and coming down the other side of the street is a very cute little 6-year-old girl, and she's skipping along and she's alone and it's nighttime. And just as you got parallel to her, a big man, a six-foot man, jumped out of the bushes and grabbed her and began assaulting her and abusing her. What is your obligation to that child? Do you have any responsibility?

I submit that you do. You should cross that street and put your life at risk, if necessary, to save that little girl. That would be your moral responsibility. That is what we were doing in World War II. We were trying to save the little girls, the Jews, the Gypsies, the Poles, the others, and to rescue those who were living in tyranny.

I have this same responsibility to set the record straight. And so do you. God has given us a platform to come alongside the Chosen People and remind all who will listen, "The Bible says...." Pray for us as we labor to combat the growing attacks against the Jewish people, as well as the growing complacency among Christian individuals, pators, and seminaries who feel, "That's political. It's not my calling." God's Chosen People are being assaulted and abused by the Palestinians, by the Islamic world, by the weak-minded European political elite, by oil-supported Western media, and even at times by our own government, which still dutifully bows down in the throne room of the Saudi royal family to maintain an uninterrupted flow of oil.

The Palestinians do not want peace with Israel; they fight for the destruction of God's Chosen People. The Arab world has not offered any genuine peace plan for the Middle East. They want to reclaim territory they lost in their embarrassing attack against Israel in 1967. Saudi Arabia is no friend to Israel or the United States; it was home to 15 of the 19 terrorists who killed 3,000 of our citizens. Joseph Farah, editor of WorldNetDaily, told it straight in a recent article: The U.S. is using military force to dismantle what President Bush calls one of the most corrupt and repressive regimes the world has ever known in Afghanistan. That regime was sponsored by Saudi Arabia. That regime was a creation of Saudi Arabia. That regime was modeled after Saudi Arabia. Yet, because of its oil power, Saudi Arabia is treated much differently by the United States. It is considered somehow a "moderating" influence in the Mideast. It is not.

No, it is not. And I'm going to keep on letting the Christian public know the truth...yes, in defense of the six million Jews that inhabit a small splinter of land on the coast of the Mediterranean surrounded and outnumbered by angry Arab neighbors. You will act either in blessing Israel with your prayers and assistance, or in cursing Israel by believing and parroting the lies against them, or by doing nothing at all. Pray for the peace of Jerusalem and the God of Abraham will bless you richly.

One of the ways you can bless the Jewish people is by telling them in person that you pray for them. So many Israelis came up to us in March to shake our hands, sometimes with tears, and told us how much our presence in the Holy Land meant to them. We were treated like royalty at the hotels, restaurants, and Biblical sites. I can't encourage you enough to come this June 1-10 for our annual Kibbutz tour. You'll see all the great holy sites and be treated like honored guests at a beautiful resort. Call our tour manager Tony at 214-696-9760 for full details, or call 1-800-WONDERS anytime for a color brochure.

We Doubt It!

A picture is indeed worth a thousand words, and I wish I had a thousand to blast this photographer's message. The photo, used in recent coverage of the conflict in Israel, suggests that Israeli tanks are chasing this boy, aimed and ready to blast him to bits. The truth of the matter is that no tanks are ever used as anti-personnel weapons by anyone. And never have any Israeli tanks fired at human beings. Notice the turrets of both tanks pointing in the same, non-combative position. The photographer either took advantage of the fact that the cannons happened to be pointing toward the boy. Or, more likely, he and the boy staged the entire scene. But images like this are what the media thrive on to incite readers, even without words, against Israel. - Zola

A Palestinian boy flees from Israeli tanks in Bethlehem, Friday's violence prompted the United States to demand that Israel halt strikes in its sourch for terrorisis.
