Thanksgiving Offers An Important Lesson

By Eli Federman / FoxNews.com

Thanksgiving connects America's founding story with the Jewish story of a people who fled oppression, crossed the waters, and gave thanks upon reaching a promised land. The link between the Pilgrims and the Israelites is not just metaphorical; it is literal. The Pilgrims saw themselves as a new Israel. They read the Hebrew Bible as a guide. In sermons and diaries, the Pilgrims described England as Egypt, the Atlantic as the Red Sea, and America as Canaan.

That fusion of Jewish Biblical narrative and American destiny shaped the moral foundation of

by Dr. Jerry Newcombe
ProvidenceForum.org

Two-and-a-half centuries have passed since the Second Continental Congress in Philadelphia adopted the Declaration of Independence. Even so, we must remember its foundational truth: We are endowed by our Creator with unalienable rights, including "life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness."

Yet since 1776, anti-Christian ideologies — notably communism — have denied the Creator. Instead of rights and prosperity, they have brought death and tyranny.

An indictment of communism came from former communist Eugene Genovese, who co-edited Marxist Perspectives. Genovese stated in a 1997 article in National Review:

When it [the Soviet Union] all collapsed, the question was, after seventy years, what do we have to show for it? Especially when it became clear that, even on a basic level, the system didn't deliver the goods, the one thing it was supposed to do. So what we had to show for it was tens of millions of corpses.

Winston Churchill succinctly captured this reality: "Capitalism is the unequal distribution of wealth. Socialism is the equal distribution of misery. And communism is socialism with a gun at your back."

All socialistic schemes eventually rely on force. As author Dr. Paul Kengor observed: "First they suggest. Then they shove. Then they shoot."

Remarkably, a form of communism was imposed on the Pilgrims when they settled Plymouth in December 1620. It failed miserably — destroying initiative, stifling productivity, and causing starvation.

The London Merchant Adventurers who financed the Mayflower mandated equal compensation regardless of effort. Diligent workers received the same as the idle, breeding discontentment within the colony.

PragerU founder Dennis Prager noted:

The Pilgrims did experiment with socialism or communalism, and they realized it didn't work. It is against human nature. The moment you tell people that the community will take care of you, they work less. It undermines character.

In The Pilgrim Way, historian Dr. Robert M. Bartlett summarized the Pilgrims' socialism experiment:

The communal system set up by the Adventurers proved a fiasco. The young men did not want to work for the wives and children of the older men. The good worker received no more than the poor worker.... The idea of all to have alike and do alike led to discontent and confusion.

So in 1623, [Plymouth Gov. William] Bradford and his assistants decided to assign every family a parcel of land to cultivate on their own. The new system was an immediate success.... Thus, private enterprise initiated a new era.

Historian Bill Federer quotes Bradford's conclusion on communism:

The failure of that experiment of communal service ... proves the emptiness of the theory of Plato and other ancients, applauded by some of later times — that the taking away of private property, and the possession of it in community ... would make a state happy and flourishing; as if they were wiser than God.

Socialism fosters an entitlement mentality claiming that the state owes each person something, regardless of effort. That contrasts with the thanksgiving mentality: God is the true Source of our blessings, and to Him we should all give thanks.

Thanksgiving is never a byproduct of socialism. Why must each generation have to relearn this timeless lesson?

Links the miracle of childbirth with the Seven Feasts of Israel!

Zola discovered, quite by accident, an amazing series of Biblical “coincidences.” It seems that every one of us, as we develop in the womb, follows the schedule of the Seven Feasts of Israel that God gave to Moses on Mount Sinai. This half-hour program illustrates the surprising similarities of these two chains of events, each established by God according to His purpose.

this country. Benjamin Franklin even proposed that the Great Seal should depict “Moses lifting up his wand and dividing the Red Sea,” with Pharaoh’s army drowning behind him. America was a continuation of the Israelite story.

So, when anti-Semites mock Jewish “chosenness” as arrogance or conspiracy, they attack the very Biblical idea that helped shape America’s belief in moral purpose and exceptionalism.

Nick Fuentes says that “Zionist Jews” control politics. Candace Owens warns of “Zionist influence” in American institutions and media, repeating the old lie that Jews seek domination.

Chosenness never meant superiority. It meant moral responsibility, a covenant to live by a higher standard. The Pilgrims and the founders shared that belief. They saw America as a new Israel, chosen not for privilege but for purpose. To twist that ideal into accusation is to misunderstand both Judaism and America.

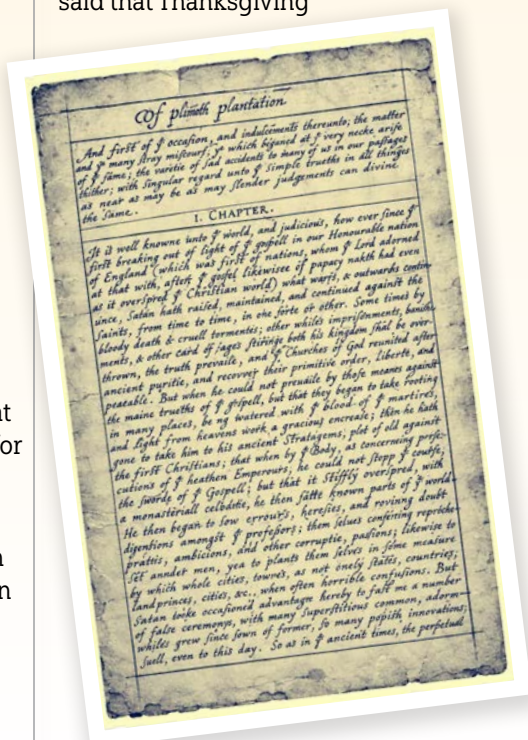

When the Pilgrims landed, Gov. William Bradford wrote in Of Plimoth Plantation [Plimouth is a variation of Plymouth] that that they “fell upon their knees and blessed the God of Heaven who had brought them over the vast and furious ocean,” echoing Deuteronomy. Thanksgiving was born from that faith — a collective act of gratitude for liberty received, not seized.

But the story that inspired America’s founding is being distorted. Christian nationalists twist the idea of a “chosen nation” into a myth of racial destiny and exclusion. Their version of the promised land belongs only to those who look, pray, or vote like them. On the far left, activists recast both the American story and the story of modern Israel as one of colonial theft.

Thanksgiving becomes an occasion to reject the American and Jewish quests for freedom.

Both distortions miss the truth. The Exodus teaches that freedom must be grounded in faith, gratitude, and justice.

Jewish leaders have long recognized this. Rabbi Menachem M. Schneerson said that Thanksgiving

William Bradford’s Of Plimoth Plantation, written between 1630 and 1651, Boston: Secretary of the Commonwealth

shares a spiritual kinship with Judaism. He even called it a Yom Tov, a day of joy. The Hebrew word for Jew, Yehudi, means to give thanks. Gratitude, in Hebrew (hoda'a), also means acknowledgment — the humility to see beyond oneself. That humility once united this country.

America's beginning was not about power but about thanks. Its founders saw themselves as Israel reborn, not Rome restored. Our unity was once rooted not in uniformity but in humility before something greater.

I felt that truth recently when I visited the oldest synagogue in America,

In the Torah, the Israelites did not thank God because they were comfortable; they thanked Him because they had survived. The Pilgrims did the same. Almost half their colony died that first winter. Their thanks were not for abundance, but for Providence.

That shared Jewish and American spirit shows that gratitude is the antidote to hatred. When we give thanks, we affirm our dependence on something greater than tribe or ideology. When we forget to thank, we begin to invent enemies.

Thanksgiving is more than a cultural holiday. It is a cure for what divides us. Jews, Christians, Believers*, and skeptics should remember that the Touro Synagogue in Newport, Rhode Island. On the wall hangs George Washington's 1790 letter to the congregation: "May the children of the stock of Abraham who dwell in this land continue to merit and enjoy the good will of the other inhabitants; while every one shall sit in safety under his own vine and fig tree, and there shall be none to make him afraid."

Washington was not just reassuring a small Jewish community. He was defining the American promise. Gratitude, not power, secures freedom. Thanksgiving reminds us that liberty endures only when we remember to give thanks for it. ☆

* "Believers" is short for "believers in Yeshua/Jesus as Messiah."

The Sacred Design of the Family Unit

This past summer, Mark Levitt extended an extraordinary generosity to our family by sponsoring a vacation retreat to honor our father's 70th birthday. The entire Colson clan flew to the Smoky Mountains to enjoy luxurious cabins, warm fellowship, and outdoor adventures including horseback riding and whitewater rafting. This rare, treasured time was the first of its scale since we left home years ago to start our own families. Mark continually seeks ways to bless us, and his selfless encouragement is marked by constant inquiry into our well-being. Such loving concern models the heart of our Heavenly Father, the giver of every good and perfect gift (James 1:17).

Scripture reveals that God designed the family as His foundational institution, created before human government or the Church. Family serves as a sanctuary for communion with God, a vessel to reflect His image, and a way to share the wonders of His creation. Thus, it's no surprise that Satan targeted this sacred institution. In the Garden, the serpent brought division into God's newly established family unit, resulting in mankind's fall and the curse unleashed upon the Earth.

Family serves as a sanctuary for communion with God, a vessel to reflect His image, and a way to share the wonders of His creation.

In Ephesians 5:31-32, the Apostle Paul echoes Genesis: "For this reason a man shall leave his father and mother and be joined to his wife, and the two shall become one flesh." This is a great mystery, but I speak concerning Christ and the church."

Because the marital covenant mirrors our ultimate union with Messiah, forces of darkness actively seek to fracture and counterfeit it. Modern culture faces a coordinated assault on divine order — manifested in broken homes, the redefinition of marriage, gender confusion, and a self-centered philosophy that views children as burdens rather than an inheritance from the Lord (Ps. 127:3-5).

This cultural erosion is not new; instead, it's a resurgence of ancient deceptions. Historically, paganism (polytheism) sought to undermine God's truth by introducing corrupt religious pantheons of god and goddess worship.

There was always a pagan patriarch — a chief celestial creator who resided in the sky or heavens, who held power over life and death by controlling the elements. Satan depicted him as a cruel mercurial tyrant rather than a loving father. That patriarch was always ready to judge, demanded unjust sacrifices, dominated the innocent, and engaged in rampant sexual immorality.

The matriarch consort goddess — typically associated with the Moon, Earth, harvest, fertility, and sometimes war — represented an insidious reversal of God's true order. Motherhood was corrupted as this deity perversely demanded ritualistic prostitution in place of purity and infant sacrifice in exchange for a bountiful womb. How does any of this make sense?!

The counterfeit pagan trinity completed this corrupted pantheon. Most notably illustrated in the post-Flood deification of Nimrod, Semiramis, and Tammuz — with the son serving as a false messiah figure — this ancient Babylonian system corrupted surrounding cultures for generations and repeatedly enticed ancient Israel to sin.

In the modern era, this ancient playbook resurfaced during the mid-20th century. Societal shifts resulting from World War II necessitated women becoming breadwinners while absent or deceased fathers led to children being reared by state-dominated education. The sexual revolution of the 1960s followed, then removal of prayer from schools, legalized abortion, feminism, reversed gender roles, and skyrocketing divorce rates (even in the Church) — all representing the thinly veiled return of ancient Babylonian paganism.

Yet, as moral confusion deepens, a profound spiritual hunger is emerging. A generation bound by brokenness is crying out for authenticity, order, and absolute truth. That truth is found exclusively in Yeshua. As the Body of Messiah, our call is clear: We must contend for the restoration of the Biblical family. It's our duty to raise our children in the fear and admonition of the Lord, honor our marital covenants, and embody the original design that God intended.

While gathering with family during this Thanksgiving season, do more than simply observe tradition. Remember God's goodness, providence, and intervention to those who sought freedom to worship Him in spirit and truth. We can use this opportunity to provide our families with the earthly mirror of the perfect family gathering that we will one day experience in eternity. ☆

With love,

Exodus III

It seems that a third Exodus of the Chosen People is now underway as an enormous number of Jewish immigrants from Russia arrive in Israel. Some Christian commentators have predicted what they call a "Second Exodus," referring to a situation much like the present one. To be fair to Jewish history and the almost eternal wanderings of the Children of Israel, the Jews were exiled from their land and were returned to it almost repeatedly. If the original Exodus from Egypt was number one, then the return from captivity after the destruction of the First Temple might be number two, while 1948 was number three, and the present release of perhaps a million Russian Jewish refugees the fourth exodus. But whichever it is, I'm adapting the title of an excellent essay by William Safire in The New York Times called "The Third Exodus." Below are excerpts of the brilliant commentator's thoughts.

In Leningrad a few months ago, a Jew who hopes to join the new Exodus to Israel told me this poignant joke. The scene was a state butcher shop in Leningrad. The butcher came out and said to the long line of customers standing in the cold: "There won't be enough meat today to go around. Jews go home." The few rejected Jews left.

A few hours later, the butcher reappeared to say: "Meat is coming, but less than we thought. Everyone go home except loyal party members." Most of those shivering in the line left.

At the end of the day, the butcher emerged and said to the few remaining: "Sorry, Comrades, all the meat was diverted to the black market; we have none at all. You'll have to go home, too."

One half-frozen Communist turned to another and exclaimed: "See? The Jews always get the best deal."

Communism froze a number of attitudes that are now thawing out, and one of them seems to be anti-Semitism. There is much in the way of ethnic strife throughout the Soviet Union today, and the Jews will historically get their share, as Safire notes. His unfortunate joke is one of the stories that illustrates the historical habit of blaming the victim for a calamity. The Jews in Russia are scared and have some reason for fear; thus, they want to leave. According to Safire, they feel that glasnost will turn into anarchy or new repressions.

The U.S. will not be accepting these Jews since we have created a convenient pool for the extra runoff in Israel. Since that country was created for the express purpose of providing a haven for Jewish refugees, we avoid the duty of helping these unfortunates among our fellow men by paying for their billeting escape of Soviet Jews to Israel as a “threat to international peace.”

Arab dictators are heartless but not stupid: The prospect of a million more Jews in Israel over the next decade changes all demographic assumptions. Israel will be more Jewish, not more Arab.

As things stood until very recently, the Arabs were winning their war of attrition, at least by demographics; they out-bred the Jews considerably and would have in time simply outnumbered them in the Land of Israel. Now, however, it seems that the population will be rebalanced in favor of those to whom God gave the land in the first place, and the terrorists in Tunis can just stamp their feet. Or perhaps they will blow up more airplanes to convince unarmed innocent people of their frustration.

In a previous Levitt Letter, I announced that I would be writing several articles about the situation in Russia after I visited there in January. Our group actually entered the Kremlin and was addressed by President Gorbachev. Although the conference had to do with ecology, human survival, etc., I learned quite a bit about the arcane situation in the Soviet Union today from simply being there and talking to the people. I will report in more detail about Russia as we go along, but the content of this article seemed more germane to the Biblical view of things than the present disarray in Russian politics.

We are living in really unusual and unpredictable times. There has never been a better moment to be informed about Biblical prophecy. Stay with us. We'll give you the Word! ☆ elsewhere. This keeps down the number of Jewish immigrants to America, although I don't know when Jewish immigration was a detriment to this country. The Jews seem to have done extremely well among minority groups for any nation who has adopted them. They arrive under a promise from God Almighty: “I will bless them that bless thee...” (Gen. 12:3). The Israelis are thinning out their own poor finances to take in their brethren, and indeed the balance of populations in the Middle East is now going to change. Safire writes:

Many Arabs who have not stopped fighting the second exodus are enraged at this third wave of Jews into “their” neighborhood. They blame the victims of Soviet oppression for dooming Arab plans to create an independent state run by the PLO terrorcrats now in Tunis.

That's why the Arab League representative at the UN wants the Security Council to declare the Owing Three or More Kidneys?

Two major bequests in recent years resurrected this ministry from a tailspin toward financial ruin. Over several decades, ZLM has received many stars, endorsements, and accolades from non-profit organizations who evaluate transparency, financial stewardship, and ministerial effectiveness.

Regardless of such approval from the accountants who scrutinize our efficiency and wherewithal, our war chest has waxed and waned. Our seed money's downward trend rivaled that of America's dwindling Patriot missile supply. We've been spread too thin on key battlefronts, and Satan is only too ready to proclaim our death knell.

Our ministry's volunteer financial auditors, Darrell and Mary Grace Keller, have audited our 2025 transactions, business practices, and policies & procedures. They haven't missed a year of auditing ZLM since they began in 1990. (Mary Grace was a child back then, but now she's a CPA like her father, Darrell, and helps progressively more as he reduces his workload.) The Kellers allow us to pay them whatever amount we are able because they see firsthand our efficiency and integrity — and recurring red ink.

Darrell's wife, Pam (Mary Grace's mother), is also a CPA who helps occasionally. Working for the Lord runs in their family. CPAs who perform audits (as opposed to completing tax returns) are a dying breed due to the tedious nature of the work, overwhelming bureaucracy, and outsized liabilities. I'm grateful for these Zola zealots who help us in this important capacity.

I might suggest that I owe the Kellers a kidney, but I'm running short. Let me explain.

1. Leroy Richard Skaar (1934–2022) of Fort Collins, Colorado bequeathed one of the two largest-ever contributions to this ministry in our 47-year history. His generosity gave us the wherewithal to balance the books for a while and transition to the Bearded Bible Brothers — a do-or-die move to deliver our Messianic, two-testament Bible teaching to today's younger generations.

Unable to locate his obituary, I'm sharing his burial marker that mentions his service as a PFC in the Korean War and his status as a beloved husband. It also cites his two favorite Bible passages, portions of which are noted below:

- "Behold, I tell you a mystery: We shall not all sleep, but we shall all be changed — in a moment, in the twinkling of an eye, at the last trumpet. For the trumpet will sound, and the dead will be raised incorruptible, and we shall be changed" (1 Cor. 15:51–52).
- "For the Lord Himself will descend from Heaven with a shout, with the voice of an archangel, and with the trumpet of God. And the dead in Christ will rise first" (1 Thess. 4:16)

Burial marker for Leroy Richard Skarr in Fort Collins, CO

While I arguably could owe a kidney to Leroy for his generosity to ZLM, he likely would have been gratified by my sharing his two favorite Scriptures with you.

2. Alfred Weinstein (1948–2021) of Littleton, New Hampshire. Born in New York City, he was a boat designer, skier, cyclist, and skydiver.

Alfred Weinstein, ardent ZLMer

He also was a martial artist and Tai chi instructor.

Alfred's considerable bequest is helping ZLM run in the black for a while so that we can create and promote our Bible teaching on social media outlets — while continuing to underwrite our ongoing investment in traditional television broadcast ministry.

Alfred's obituary¹ makes no mention of his profound devotion to the Lord, the Great Commission, or this ministry. That said, his remarkable bequest to ZLM with the lion's share of his estate would theoretically entitle him to my second kidney.

3. Eric and Mary Colson (married since 1977, and probably will be until the Rapture), residents of Fort Worth, donors of their only sons — Joshua and Caleb Colson, the two and only Bearded Bible Brothers. Shall I call Eric my brother from another mother since I feel like an uncle to Joshua and Caleb? And what about Mary? Behind every great man (or three in this family) there's a great woman, eh?

Abiding Matthew 19:14, Eric and Mary encouraged their sons to follow Yeshua. As parents, these faithful servants of the Lord steeped the smart, handsome, strong brothers in the Jewish roots of Christianity and the New Testament's Gospel of grace — and made certain their boys watched plenty of Zola Levitt Presents. Someday Moses may appear to me in a dream to advise how I might tangibly express my deepest gratitude to Eric and Mary, quintessential warriors for the Kingdom.

4. Zola Levitt (1938–2006), resident of Dallas, founder, teacher, writer, composer, musician, Holy Land tour host, husband, father, counselor, and devoted servant. Happy is the man whose work is his play. As much as Zola (some friends jokingly called him "Big Z" — and me "little z") loved working for you viewers and readers, his gratitude to you (and mine as well) would rival anything.

5. You. What a fulfilling life of service Zola and I have had, thanks to you, in pursuing God's will. Without you — viewer, reader, and donor — the monumental contributions of Leroy, Alfred, Eric, and Mary wouldn't add up to what this ministry is today — and what it promises for the future that will be in Joshua and Caleb's capable hands.

Please visit the June 2025 Levitt Letter and read the "Note from Mark" on pages 8–9². Then pray about what God would have you do to follow in the footsteps of those who have loved this ministry more than most. ☆

What is the Significance of Palm Sunday?

Dr. Todd Baker
Zola Levitt Ministries
Staff Theologian
staff@levitt.com

Palm Sunday holds profound importance in the life and ministry of Jesus Christ. It derives its name from the crowds who waved palm branches and spread them on the road to welcome the Messiah into Jerusalem (John 12:13). Recorded in all four Gospels (Matt. 21:1–11; Mark 11:1–10; Luke 19:28–40; John 12:12–15), this day ushered in Passion Week, which culminated in Jesus' trials and crucifixion.

Jesus arranged for His disciples to obtain a foal — a donkey one year old or less — for Him to ride into Jerusalem. No one had ever sat on the colt (Mark 11:2; Luke 19:30). Animals never yoked or ridden were consecrated for sacred purposes (Num. 19:2; Deut. 21:3; 1 Sam. 6:7). With this entrance, Jesus fulfilled Zechariah's prophecy:

*Rejoice greatly, O daughter of Zion!
Shout, O daughter of Jerusalem!
Behold, your King is coming to you;
He is just and having salvation,
lowly and riding on a donkey, a colt,
the foal of a donkey (Zech. 9:9).*

In Biblical times, a king entering a city on a donkey signaled peace, whereas one arriving on horseback signified war. Following King Solomon's precedent (1 Kings 1:33–35), Jesus came humbly on a donkey to bring salvation. At His return, however, He will ride a white horse to wage war on the anti-Christ and the wicked (Rev. 19:11).

The Jewish Talmud notes that Messiah would come on a donkey if Israel was unworthy (b. Sanhedrin 98a). Because Israel (and all humanity) is unworthy, Messiah Jesus rode on a donkey to accomplish salvation, thanks to God's grace.

Palm Sunday constituted Jesus' public presentation as the Messiah King, offering the Messianic Kingdom conditioned upon repentance and faith. Tragically, Israel's leaders rejected Him (Matt. 23). Five days later, the Jewish multitudes who earlier shouted "Hosannah" and hailed Jesus as Messiah demanded His crucifixion.

As the Lord entered Jerusalem, He knew that most people would reject Him. Consequently, He wept because they failed to "recognize the time of God's coming" (Luke 19:44). He also foretold the city's destruction almost 40 years later by Titus and the Roman army.

J. Dwight Pentecost aptly summarized this event:

Christ was identified before the nation as Messiah at His baptism. He was authenticated as Messiah at His temptation. His glory as Messiah was revealed at His transfiguration. But it was at His triumphal entry that Christ made an official presentation of Himself as Messiah to the nation.... Jesus wept over the city because the people received none of the blessings that He had come to provide for them. Luke described the judgment that was to come on the generation in place of blessing. (The Words and Works of Jesus Christ, 376)

Unsaved sinner, don't repeat the fatal mistake made by the Jewish multitudes who missed the day of the Messiah's saving visitation. Acknowledge that Jesus Christ came to bring salvation to you as the divine King and Messiah. Repent and believe in the crucified and risen Savior Jesus, and you shall be saved. ☆

Story Comes to Life: Satanic Battle at 30,000 Feet

By Ryan Foley / ChristianPost.com

Author and Messianic Rabbi Jonathan Cahn noted that a violent encounter with a fellow passenger on an American Airlines flight in September bore an uncanny resemblance to events in his latest book.

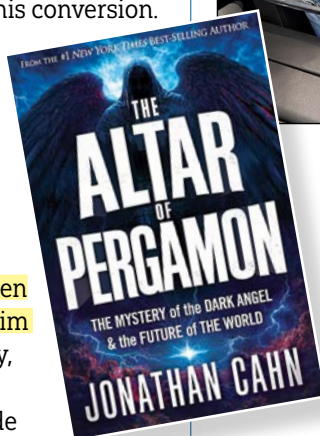

During the flight from Dallas, Texas, to Newark, New Jersey, a friendly exchange between Cahn and fellow passenger Arthur Lundeen quickly deteriorated after Cahn shared the story of his conversion. Lundeen then directed expletives at Cahn, while “cursing God” and “cursing Jesus.”

The confrontation escalated as the two struggled over Cahn’s laptop, after which Lundeen struck Cahn and placed him in a chokehold. Eventually, Lundeen was duct-taped to his seat. The plane made an emergency landing in Baltimore, where Lundeen was arrested. He now faces charges.

Cahn believes that the “forces of darkness” sought to prevent him from sharing his new book, The Altar of Pergamon: The Mystery of the Dark Angel & the Future of the World — a “revelation about the enemy” told through a thriller-like story.

In the book, the protagonist encounters a stranger on multiple occasions, beginning with a friendly conversation that eventually turns demonic as the stranger threatens him. The protagonist is eventually placed in a chokehold, while another scene involves the character trying to protect his laptop. Cahn noted that the conflict on the jet mirrored the events in his book.

Cahn also connected the incident to a message that he had delivered the weekend before the flight. That message centered on Paul’s statement, Arthur Lundeen was restrained with duct tape after a violent exchange with Jonathan Cahn on a flight in September.

“We wrestle not with flesh and blood, but against principalities ... in high places” (Eph. 6:12).

That’s exactly what Cahn was doing at 30,000 feet. He asserted that the experience reinforced his belief that the spiritual conflict described in Scripture is real.

Cahn was grateful for the opportunity to speak publicly about the incident and its spiritual implications. More people have discovered the book, and he has been able to discuss the encounter on the jet and what he believes it represents. “God is real; this is real, what the Bible says,” Cahn emphasized. “What the enemy meant for evil, God has been using for good.”

According to Cahn, the book is something “the enemy so much ... doesn’t want you to read that he brought a plane down.” ☆

Ex-Muslim Takes 100+ Evangelists to Dearborn Islamic Parade

By Benjamin Gill

Former Muslim Shahriq Khan sharing the Gospel at the Dearborn Islamic parade

In August, videos went viral as Americans alerted others about a massive Muslim parade that occurred in Dearborn, Michigan. Belgian lawmaker and Iranian exile Darya Safai warned that the event resembled the ideology she fled, saying that Persia “was conquered by this ideology.”

In contrast to the troubled responses, however, one Christian took more than 100 trained evangelists to the parade to spread the Good News of Jesus Christ.

Shahriq Khan is a former Muslim who is now a Christian apologist. He argues that while many view the growth of Islam in Dearborn fearfully, Christians should approach the community with a “missionary lens” focused on God’s plan for redemption.

Khan and his team use respectful conversation and Biblical reasoning with Muslims rather than confrontation. “We’re going in there without megaphones. We’re going in there not to scream at people. We’re going there to listen, to learn, and to eventually win Dearborn to Christ,” he stated. His team offered free literature and comparative studies to discuss the history of God and the Messiah.

Khan emphasizes a “systematic deconstruction” of Islamic beliefs by referencing Old Testament Scripture, aiming to build relationships and disciple Muslims rather than simply winning arguments.

“I am quite literally loving and Biblically deconstructing people’s deepest beliefs in Islam right in front of them, showing them how the Torah is all about Christ,” he added.

“Our Muslim neighbors deserve to hear the Gospel of Jesus Christ communicated in truth and love.” ☆

We are living in perilous times — all the more reason that we must "pay more careful attention to what we have heard so that we do not drift away" (Heb. 2:1). We must be anchored to the truth lest we become shipwrecked in our faith. Drifting occurs slowly and almost imperceptibly, though the end result is as deadly as openly turning away from God in outright apostasy. As C.S. Lewis wrote, "The safest road to hell is the gradual one" — the gentle slope, soft underfoot, without sudden turnings, without milestones, without signposts." The devil seeks to lull you to sleep.

Spiritual danger is just as real as physical danger, though most people pretend it isn't because it isn't as easily seen. The danger today is to give up hope, to "go with the flow," to become numb, to drift away, and to die inside. It is far more dangerous to tranquilly ignore God's mercy, or to make a pretense of knowing God's grace, than it is to blatantly break His Law. Therefore, the urgent need is to remember, to hear, and to awaken the soul to face the truth about reality. We must focus the heart, concentrate the will, and consciously "set" the Lord always before us (Ps. 16:8). Each day we must awaken from our emptiness to re-affirm the central truth: "Hear, O Israel, the LORD is our God; the LORD is One; and you shall love the LORD your God with all your heart and with all your soul and with all your might" (Deut. 6:4-5). As the Apostle Paul wrote, "Awake, you who sleep, Arise from the dead, And Christ will give you light" (Eph. 5:14).

The great commandment is always shema — listen. You must listen to the voice of God's love for you; listen to the message of God's good will for you; listen to the call of the Spirit. But to truly listen you must quiet yourself, you must "make space" within your heart, and you must consciously attend to God's presence by "setting" the Lord before you.

Therefore, we must be vigilant to secure our high calling in Messiah: "Let us know; let us press on (lit., "pursue after") to know the LORD; His going out is sure as the dawn; He will come to us as the showers, as the spring rains that water the Earth" (Hos. 6:3). The day is drawing near, and now — more than ever — we must remain steadfast. May God help you pursue Him be'chol levavkha — "with all your heart" — because He has promised, "You will seek Me and find Me, when you seek Me with all your heart" (Jer. 29:13). And may the love of the Lord be upon you, even as you put your hope in Him (Ps. 33:22). ☆

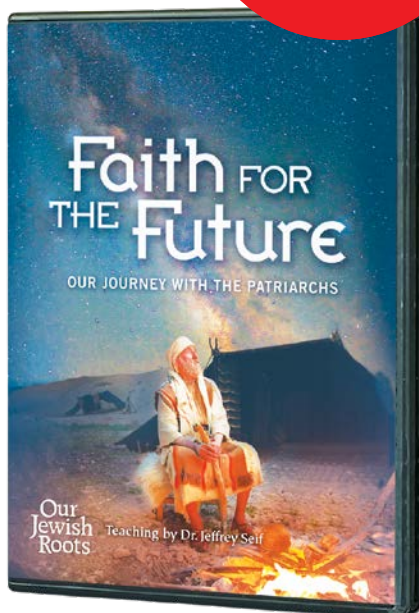

Faith for the Future

DVD set

Ten 30-minute programs
on two DVDs

Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob demonstrated their faith in God by taking small steps — and even leaps — of faith as they learned greater dependence on the Lord. In this ten-part series, Dr. Jeffrey Seif shows us strategic events in the Patriarchs' lives through dramatic re-enactments filmed in Israel. Dr. Barri Seif (Jeff's wife) provides a personal perspective.

Stepping Out in Faith In Genesis, God called Abram to go to the land of Canaan. The journey was difficult, but it culminated in a promised homeland for the Hebrews. Leaving the familiar for the unknown requires putting faith into action.

Conflicting Directions and Destinations Abraham's two sons (born from different mothers) fathered nations whose hostility toward each other continues today. Sometimes our journey of faith leads to challenges that require greater trust in God.

Delivering the Unexpected How could a couple so old have a child? God can and does deliver the unexpected. We must be prepared for times when God intentionally delays the fulfillment of His promises.

Sacrifice and Loss Abraham's willingness to sacrifice Isaac testifies to his faith in God's promises. We Believers must trust that God will lead us to the future He has lovingly prepared for us.

Toward the Unknown Seeking a wife for Isaac, Abraham trusted that God would provide. Rebekah showed faith when she accompanied a stranger to a foreign land. Following the Lord always leads to the perfect outcome.

Love and Marriage Isaac and Rebekah's meeting led to a loving relationship. Believers should remember that singleness and marriage are both gifts from God, and His ways are always best.

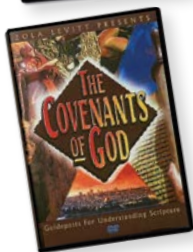

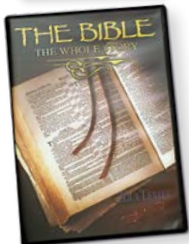

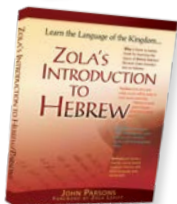

Not by Sight Esau and Jacob held opposite worldviews. While one trusted and valued only what he could see and touch, the other waited for the Lord's timing.

Life's Detours Situations don't always work out as we plan. Sometimes the Lord uses our circumstances to drive us toward what He has prepared for our future.

Patient Endurance Jacob waited 20 years for the land he was promised and seven years for the wife he desired. Good things come to those who wait on God.

Stepping Closer to Destiny Jacob's wants were foremost in his mind when he wrestled with an "angel" until he received a blessing. Faith in God pays the most blessed dividends.

Times of the Signs DVD Set

Eight 30-minute TV programs on 2 DVDs

In this series, Myles and Katharine Weiss encourage Believers to look beyond the troubling prophetic signs of our day and live in growing expectation of our Messiah's return. Series guests include: Jimmy DeYoung, Jim Fletcher, Jeremy Gimpel, Rabbi Yehuda Glick, Wilfred Hahn, Bill Koenig, Tim LaHaye, Avi Lipkin, Randall Price, David Rubin, Bill Salus, Carl Teichrib, and Andy Woods.

On the Prophetic Horizon Reviews the major prophetic signs that point to the return of Yeshua (Jesus) and the quickening pace of prophecy.

Government on Whose Shoulders? Satan continues his push to exclude God and install a man-based government over Earth. Mankind's only hope: accepting Yeshua's sacrifice on the Cross.

Green to the Extreme As the environmental movement glorifies nature as "Mother Earth," Believers worship the Creator, not creation.

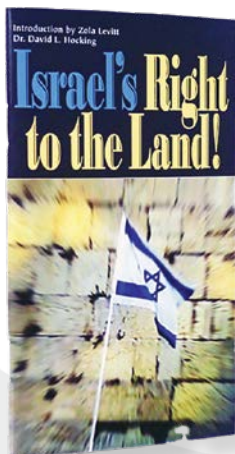

Bethlehem Rewritten In Bethlehem, Arab Christians are caught between God's covenants with the Jewish people and replacement theologies powered by Islam. Too many "peace" proposals exclude the Prince of Peace.

Rebuilding the Temple Learn the history of the Temple Mount from King David's threshing floor to efforts to build a Third Temple.

The Heavens Declare The Lord uses heavenly signs to show us what He is doing, where He is going, and what He asks of us. Believers follow our Messiah, not signs.

The Sword of Allah The spiritual battle with radical Islam is wearying, but we mustn't give up; the Lord wants none to perish (2 Pet. 3:9) and will return for His own.

New Heaven, New Earth Signs like increased knowledge and the Jewish return to Israel point to the return of Yeshua for His bride, and we Believers want no one to miss out.

Black Israelites

From B.M.: Thank you for the Levitt Letter, which is very helpful to me in learning and growing in my walk with God and Jesus Christ.

A guy in the cell next to mine claims that he is a Black Israelite. He also insists that Israelites and Jews are two different people. Is this true? It seems like the Bible makes it clear that they are the same.

Shalom B.M.,

Your cell neighbor has been duped by the Black Israelite Movement. This false and unfounded doctrine teaches that people of color are the sole biological descendants of the ancient Israelites. It's also an anti-Semitic movement that characterizes modern Jews as imposters. But no true historians, Biblical scholars, or theologians verify this unfounded belief. Likewise, genetics and DNA testing, archaeology, and historical documentation all disprove this new "theology." The Jewish people in Israel today originate from all 12 tribes of Israel, not just the tribe of Judah. — Blessings, Joshua and Caleb

Ancient "High Places" in U.S.?

From T.C.: Shalom, Bearded Bible Brothers. Thank you for sharing the truth of God's Word and the Gospel of Jesus Christ. I recently found your YouTube channel, and I've enjoyed your interviews with Lee Brainard, J. B. Hixson, and Daniel Maritz. I'm a committed Christian. God has given me a heart for Israel, because He has a heart for Israel! I'm what Brandon Holthaus would call a "Biblical Zionist" (a distinction within Christian Zionist).

Soon after I watched one of your presentations about the Nephilim, the YouTube algorithm suggested another video. That teaser referred to the Fort Mountain Wall — roughly 855 feet long with around 29 pits that are positioned in a zigzag pattern that archaeologists think was built by Native Americans for ceremonial purposes. I vaguely remember hearing about the wall when I was young. I currently live not far from Fort Mountain.

As I watched that presentation, I thought of your research. At the end of the video, the narrator asked, "Which of these sites would you want to visit?" The implication in his question was "... and why?"

While I don't know enough about the Scriptures in this area yet to give a concise answer, I thought about replying that the producer and viewers should check out your YouTube videos about the Biblical accounts of the Nephilim.

Is there a website you'd recommend for me to share? I'm a 66-year-old retired middle school teacher who isn't very savvy with social media. If, however, my response were to prompt at least one person to seek the Lord, it would be worth replying.

Shalom, T.C.,

Thanks for sharing details on this ancient "high place" in America. Our friend Mondo Gonzales of Prophecy Watchers states that there are over 200,000 such megalith sites, burial mounds, and ancient pagan worship grounds east of the Mississippi River. These sites pre-date the Native American arrival and are linked with the post-diluvium Nephilim dispersion.

Concerning our videos, we always recommend that viewers share this content with the lost, your family, and friends. Our heart is to reach unbelievers with the truth of the Gospel, and this topic of the Nephilim draws the interest of many who would normally not watch Christian programming. —Blessings, Joshua and Caleb

Return of the Nephilim #8: Nimrod and Mount Babel
on YouTube

From C.B.: I appreciate your visiting and showing ancient ruins and the Scriptural history behind them. I love archaeology and how the “stones cry out” proclaiming Jesus. I’d never be able to go to these places myself. By your going, however, it allows us to see history and the Bible from your vantage point.

Dear C.B.,

Zola was the first to realize the importance of taking his audience to the authentic Biblical sites. Teaching on location, as we do, truly makes Scripture come alive! A picture is definitely worth a thousand words. —Blessings, Joshua and Caleb

Pre-Tribulation Rapture

From Z.H.: A pre-trib Rapture is false doctrine, and teaching it is a disservice to the Body of Christ. Do not perpetuate this myth upon God's people and cause them to be unprepared for what is coming. No one wants to go through tribulation, but Jesus and the Apostles said that we would. By now there's enough refutation of this false doctrine that any responsible Bible commentator should be doing better to prepare God's people. Argue with Jesus if you don't like what I said.

Dear Z.H.,

On the contrary, Yeshua Himself is the greatest advocate of a Pre-Tribulation Rapture. In John 14:2-3, Yeshua declares that He's preparing a place in Heaven to take us to be with Him, not to show up on Earth and immediately establish His Kingdom. Yeshua clearly stated that no man knows the day or hour of His return (Matt. 24:36, 42); this is not the Second Coming, as we know the exact date — at the end of the Seven-Year Tribulation, on Yom Kippur — that He will return.

Revelation 3:10 is a promise to the Church of Philadelphia to escape the time of Tribulation that will overtake the whole Earth. In fact, most of the other churches, like Sardis, are warned to repent or else they will be overtaken into that judgment unaware, like a thief in the night. —Blessings, Joshua and Caleb

Nephilim Question

From R.P.: Regarding the fallen angels of God mating with human women, is it plausible that this was like the demoniac in Gerasene, in whom demons dwelled in a human body? Could this be what fallen angels did with men as they mated with women in a human body? Did they dominate or fully take over the human being — mind, body, and soul — then the humans' whole DNA became corrupted with the seed of Satan and produced an offspring of evil giants?

Dear R.P.,

While many propose such a theory, we choose to take Genesis 6:4 literally. These Bene haElohim did their own procreation. The confusion lies with our earthly minds not comprehending the physicality of a spirit body of these celestial beings. Their bodies aren't translucent ghosts like modern media representations; they have physicality and mass. They can even take on the forms of terrestrial beings as did the two angels who met Abraham (Gen. 18; Heb. 13:2).

In Scripture, angels also eat and drink. Even our spirits can eat and drink as we see with the story of the rich man and Lazarus in Luke 16:19–31. The rich man's physical body was in the grave, but his spirit asked Lazarus for a drink of water for relief. There is much we don't understand of the spirit world and the heavenlies, but that reality is more genuine and real than our temporal world of time-space.

—Blessings, Joshua and Caleb

Return of the Nephilim #9: The New Breed and the Gigantomachy on YouTube

From G.G.: Caleb, how can you remain so centered when Joshua is cutting up with jokes? More than once have I spit out a drink from laughing. I appreciate all your dissemination of Scripture. The Lord has sent His Holy Spirit for me to understand Scripture. It never made so much sense until now. Especially the “seed” war between woman and Satan. I adore you brothers!

Dear G.G.,

I've had a lifetime of learning how to maintain my composure while Joshua tries to break me up. Every now and then he succeeds — those are the outtakes!

—Blessings, Caleb ☆

New Israeli Substance Can Clean Up Oil Spills

Skimming an oil spill

Israeli researchers have developed a cellulose-based aerogel that can absorb large amounts of oil and other hydrocarbons while also enhancing biodegradation, the process by which bacteria break down the pollutants. This method promises a faster, more comprehensive way to clean up oil spills.

Researchers from Ben-Gurion University of the Negev's Environmental Biotechnology Laboratory say that the aerogel can absorb about 100 times its own weight in oil, jet fuel, gasoline, kerosene, and other petroleum-based substances. The material also supports the natural biodegradation of hydrocarbons, especially in marine environments.

Hydrocarbon spills pose a major environmental threat, contaminating oceans, soil, and groundwater. Conventional cleanup methods focus on containment — using booms to prevent oil from spreading — and then removing as much pollution as possible.

The new alternative, Nutrient-Supplemented Carbonized Aerogels (NSCA), is designed to absorb hydrocarbons while increasing the concentration of nitrogen and phosphorus. These nutrients are often scarce in marine environments but are essential for the bacteria that are responsible for biodegradation.

In experiments using artificial seawater contaminated with oil, researchers discovered that NSCA significantly improved oil breakdown compared with carbonized aerogels without the added nutrients.

This method “offers a promising alternative to conventional approaches, addressing both immediate containment and long-term environmental recovery,” noted Prof. Ariel Kushmaro from the Ben-Gurion University's Faculty of Engineering, who oversaw the research.

Dr. Danit Lisa Karsagi Biron, also of Ben-Gurion University's Faculty of Engineering, led the research. The findings were published in the August edition of Chemical Engineering Journal Advances. ☆

Man Addicted to Painkillers Detoxes in 20 Minutes

By Or Hadar / YNetNews.com

Specialists at Israel's Rambam Health Care Campus have successfully helped a patient detox from extreme opioid dependence using a 20-minute, non-invasive procedure. The treatment, using focused ultrasound technology developed by the Israeli firm Insightec, was conducted as part of an international clinical trial at several medical centers in the U.S. and Israel.

The patient, identified only as H., is a northern Israel resident in his 40s who suffered a neck injury. Even after the pain subsided, he continued using opioids, sometimes reaching 130 pills a day.

Opioids activate the brain's reward system. While helpful for short-term pain treatment, users may develop addiction after pain relief is no longer needed. Over time, opioids become less effective and have side effects that include health damage and early mortality risk.

The experimental procedure targeted the nucleus accumbens — a deep brain region central to satisfaction, reward, and craving — modulating nerve activity without heating or damaging brain tissue. It builds on technology already used to treat Parkinson's-related tremor.

Specialists observed an immediate drop in the man's cravings during the treatment. One week later, H. tested negative for opioids and other substances. Unexpectedly, his smoking decreased from three packs daily to only a few cigarettes, and he reported no urge to drink alcohol.

"This is nothing less than a medical and therapeutic revolution," stated Dr. Lior Lev Tov, head of Rambam's Functional Neurosurgery Unit and the study's lead investigator. "The urge and craving have disappeared entirely. He told us that he got his life back. The tests show that his body is completely clean, and his physical and functional condition is entirely normal."

H. was the first patient treated during active withdrawal, a challenge that

"H." overcame opioid addiction using Insightec's sound waves technology

credit: Rambam Health Care Campus

significantly impacted the research. The multicenter trial has produced excellent results in maintaining opioid withdrawal achievements, even in severe cases of heroin addiction where withdrawal typically takes years.

Opioid addiction is a global epidemic. During the last few years, it caused hundreds of thousands of deaths and billions of dollars in social and economic damage in the U.S. alone.

Current treatment approaches include gradual dose reduction — with about 5% success rates — and substitute medication therapy. However, these address physical symptoms, not the psychological cravings that can last for a long time.

This procedure opens doors to treating conditions such as PTSD, OCD, eating disorders, other addictions, and severe depression. Eventually it might help treat cognitive issues like attention deficit disorder, Alzheimer's, and Parkinson's. ✨

Anti-Gov't strikes spread in Vietnam
U.S. aid being increased

SAIGON (AP) — Anti-government demonstrators and strikers gathered over South Vietnam today to demand the U.S. to stop its aid to the Saigon regime and to demand the withdrawal of U.S. troops.

Jakarta closes all UN offices

JAKARTA (AP) — Indonesia announced today the closure of all United Nations offices in this country and the withdrawal of all UN personnel within 72 hours. The action was in retaliation for what Indonesia called U.N. "sabotage" in its recent efforts to bring about a settlement in the Indonesian conflict. The Indonesian government said it was "disappointed" that the UN had not been able to bring about a settlement in the Indonesian conflict. The Indonesian government said it was "disappointed" that the UN had not been able to bring about a settlement in the Indonesian conflict.

When I lived in Israel in the 1960s, I never saw a "Palestinian." Not once. Why? Because they hadn't been invented yet. Beyond Jews, I saw Arabs, as they called themselves. I have newspapers from the time to prove it.

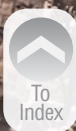

I've been told not to address this — that I'm dehumanizing "Palestinians" when I speak truthfully about my lived experience, denying their "unique" identity and culture. Though some claim that I have moral shortcomings, I cannot remain silent.

When many people refer to "Palestinians" as a unique people with a unique culture and history who deserve a state — taken from Israel — I must speak up. The Palestinian concept did not emerge organically. It was created deliberately, intending to destroy Israel and Jewish sovereignty. What prompted this lie?

Islam has been at war with Jews since its inception 1,400 years ago. As Islam expert Robert Spencer documents, demonization of Jews is embedded in the Koran. It claims that Jews:

- have the greatest enmity toward Muslims (5:82)
- love to hear lies (5:41)

Statement after Cairo talks

Statement after Cairo talks

CAIRO (AP) — Egyptian leaders issued a statement today following talks with other Arab officials, declaring their determination to continue the struggle for the liberation of the Holy Land.

The statement said the project was part of the Arab effort to achieve a final settlement of the Arab-Israeli conflict and would be a first step toward the United Nations.

Dejected sources said the project would be a first step toward the United Nations.

The talks, intended to bring about a final settlement of the Arab-Israeli conflict, were held in Cairo.

come upon them and drive them out of the places from which they have driven you out." Very few people acknowledge this Islamic source of the conflict.

Not all of the world's two billion Muslims devoutly believe in the Koran, but countless millions do. Enough to create the 1979 Iranian Islamic revolution. Enough to create Hezbollah, Hamas, the Houthis, Palestinian Islamic Jihad, ISIS, and countless other Islamic terror groups. Not surprisingly, all seek the Jewish state's destruction.

Before modern Israel was founded, the Islamic world refused to tolerate Jewish sovereignty over land that they perceived as theirs in perpetuity. Soon, however, an Ottoman region ignored for centuries suddenly became important. Arabs started boycotting Jewish concerns in the early 1900s. In 1917, the Ottomans initiated a brutal, forced march of 7,000 Jews out of Jaffa. In 1920, the British Mandate of Palestine was created to establish a Jewish homeland, but Arab pressure in 1921 forced Britain to cede 77% of that land to Jordan, forbidding Jewish settlement. The Arab revolt of 1936–39 forced Britain to end Jewish immigration and land purchases in the Mandate. When Israel declared independence in 1948, seven Arab armies attacked Israel within 24 hours.

Since military options failed, Islamist Yasser Arafat and the Soviets devised another plan. Working together in the early 1960s, they created a "Palestinian" people marketed to the West as victims of Jews. Disparate Arab emigrants from Egypt, Lebanon, Iraq, and Yemen were lumped together into a unique "Palestinian" nationality — and the world bought it.

In subsequent decades, activists invented a "Palestinian" history to delegitimize the Jewish existence in the Land of Israel. Sadly, even Israelis went along with the lie. By the 1990s Oslo Accords — just 30 years after the "Palestinian" invention — Israelis and the world believed that this newly contrived people deserved a state taken from Israel.

Since the "Palestinian" invention is part of an Islamic religious jihad, negotiations have never worked and aren't likely to in the future. Most Israelis now understand this.

This is an uncomfortable topic. Many avoid it for fear of being called immoral or Islamophobic, yet an honest understanding of Israel's enemies is critical to Jewish survival. Validating the pretense of a unique, indigenous "Palestinian" people is suicidal; the jihadis know it and celebrate.

I will not remain silent about the damaging "Palestinian" invention, for when all the witnesses are gone, who will be left to speak the truth? ☆

Church of England Partners with Infamous Nightclub

By Anugrah Kumar / ChristianPost.com

The Church of England faces criticism after St. Paul's Cathedral in London signed a multi-year agreement to host concerts with Fabric, a nightclub that lost its license in 2016 following two drug-related deaths. The arrangement grants Fabric sole rights to stage concerts at the world-famous cathedral through 2030.

Sandra Lynes Timbrell, the cathedral's director of visitor engagement, stated that they wanted to help people "discover and engage with this historic building in new and exciting ways."

However, descendants of Lord Horatio Nelson, buried in the cathedral's crypt, criticized the arrangement as "an insult to Lord Nelson's memory." Peregrine Hood, president of the Nelson Society, commented: "Is nothing sacred anymore? What a sad reflection on where spiritual integrity and Christianity are today." Andy Smith, the society's press officer, called it "a profound insult" to Nelson's memory and to all national heroes buried or memorialized at the cathedral. Smith described St. Paul's as "the premier cathedral of the land," and said that holding raves or concerts there was deeply offensive to Christians.

Jacob Phillips, a professor of systematic theology at St Mary's University, Twickenham, wrote an op-ed in The Telegram titled "Take it from a reformed raver. Dance music doesn't belong in St Paul's Cathedral." Addressing the false promises that places like Fabric offer, Phillips stated that Christianity offers more than just a search for meaning — it tells people where to find true and enduring freedom. Phillips added that if this distinction is lost, our cathedrals will become repurposed as little more than "playgrounds for middle-aged ravers."

Colombian President Vows to "Stand with Israel"

TheJC.com

Colombian President Abelardo de la Espriella vowed to "stand with Israel" during a Rosh Hashanah visit to the Beth El synagogue in Barranquilla.

The new president, who was elected in June and took office in August, described his decision to visit the synagogue as “a gesture of respect, affection and brotherhood” toward Colombia’s Jewish community.

“I ask the God of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob to bless every Jewish family in Colombia and to bless all the people of Israel,” Espriella told worshippers.

The president, a Catholic convert, also delivered a strong message of support for the Jewish state. “I will never stop defending Israel because it is the people of God, and I will always stand with Israel,” he stated.

EsPriella seeks to reshape the South American nation’s relationship with Israel. Under previous (socialist and progressive) administrations, relations between Bogotá and Jerusalem became increasingly strained, but the new right-wing government has signaled a markedly different approach, with Espriella making support for Israel a prominent part of his foreign policy.

Chinese Nationals Pose as Descendants of Murdered Jews to Get German Citizenship

By Mathilda Heller / JPost.com

The Düsseldorf public prosecutor’s office is investigating 32 people, including at least 28 Chinese nationals, who posed as descendants of Jewish victims of the Nazis to fraudulently obtain German citizenship. The scheme involved forged documents and biographical information.

Article 116(2) of Germany’s Basic Law provides for the restoration of German citizenship to former German citizens whose citizenship was stripped between January 30, 1933 and May 8, 1945, for political, racial, or religious reasons, and to their descendants.

The news magazine Der Spiegel detailed the example of Chinese national Liu H., who is wanted internationally on suspicion of kidnapping and murder. He orchestrated various schemes to evade Chinese justice, including adopting new identities and biographies. In 2024, Liu H. obtained German nationality as Derrick Wong and subsequently obtained a passport. His citizenship application falsely claimed that he was a grandson of Karl Siegfried and Gertraud Suesskind, who fled Germany to what was then British Mandatory Palestine.

The Düsseldorf public prosecutor’s office and the BKA (Germany’s FBI) have been working on the case for about a year now. Because the suspects live in Cyprus, Israel, the UK, and the U.S., German investigators cannot easily bring them in for questioning. About half of them have already received German citizenship.

Der Spiegel noted that German citizenship cannot be revoked easily, and that an unlawful naturalization can only be withdrawn within 10 years. ☆

Destruction remains discovered during the excavations in the City of David

Burned Beams from First Temple Destruction Found in Jerusalem

Burned wooden beams from the destruction of Jerusalem more than 2,600 years ago were recently uncovered during excavations in the City of David. The rare find comes from a building destroyed when Babylonian forces captured Jerusalem and brought the First Temple period to an end in 586 B.C.

Archaeologists believe that the timbers formed part of the roof over an inner courtyard. When fire swept through the building, the roof collapsed onto the floor. The fire helped preserve the wood, as intense heat caused plaster from the walls to melt and fall over the charred beams. The hardened plaster then sealed the wood beneath the rubble, protecting the remains.

Finds like this are uncommon because wood usually decays long before archaeologists reach ancient building layers. The beams contain a large number of visible growth rings, giving researchers an unusual chance to date the timber with far greater precision than before.

Earlier studies of ancient wood often produced dates covering several centuries. These well-preserved beams could reduce that range to about 10 years, helping build a more accurate timeline for Jerusalem during the final decades before the Babylonian conquest.

The building lay buried beneath thick destruction layers. The collapsed roof and burned timbers match evidence of the widespread fires linked to the destruction of Jerusalem and the First Temple in 586 B.C.

Archaeologists believe that when people returned to rebuild the city, they left parts of the ruined buildings untouched instead of removing all the debris. New buildings rose above the destruction layer, sealing part of the ruined city beneath later streets and structures.

The wood could improve dating for the building, identify the tree species used in construction, and provide new evidence about building methods in Jerusalem during the final years of the First Temple period.

Josiah and the Last Reformation book

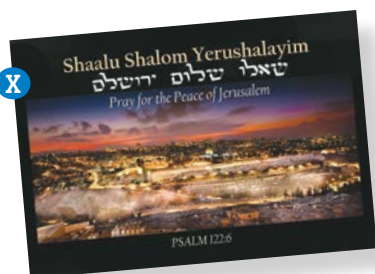

The last days of the Kingdom of Judah relevantly parallel the Last Days in which we as Believers are living today.

During the reign of King Josiah, Babylon was coming to take Judah into exile. Likewise, for us, a future kingdom is coming — Babylon the Great — which will be ruled by the Beast. Even today, mankind commits the same acts of demon worship, idolatry, sexual perversion, and child sacrifice, by pushing Satan's "woke" ideologies that are simply rebranded false religions, self-help doctrines, increasingly wretched definitions for sexual perversion, and abortion.

In the United States, the Ten Commandments have been barred from courthouses, and prayer banished from public schools. In Israel, tradition, rabbinical doctrine, and ancient mysticism are elevated higher than Torah. Tragically, just as America and Israel are unified in their Biblical heritage, they are equally united in their ongoing rejection of Biblical principles, leading both on a collision course for judgment. Conversely, Josiah humbled himself before God, pushing the greatest moral and spiritual reformation in all history, and therefore extended God's prophetic timetable of judgment. Is there hope for our nation today? Is it too late to turn back to God?

Muslim Convert Planned to Bomb N.Y. Capitol, Kill Lawmakers

By Samantha Kamman

Bowie purchasing bomb-making parts at Home Depot

Federal authorities stopped a woman's ISIS-inspired plot to bomb the New York State Capitol building. Jessica Bowie, 35, of Albany, New York was arrested in August after taking possession of what she believed was an explosive device.

Bowie converted to Islam five years ago and adopted the name "Aisha Saif." She pledged loyalty to ISIS and sent messages from several online accounts expressing support for terrorism. On May 28, Bowie wrote in Arabic to another social media user, "Praise be to Allah for September 11." Supposedly she wanted to "do something to benefit the ummah [worldwide body of Muslims] and harm the enemies of God."

According to court documents, Bowie communicated in July with an FBI operative posing as an ISIS facilitator. She claimed that she wanted to carry out an attack on the state capitol and "destroy as much of the building as possible and kill the senators while they are meeting." Bowie reportedly added that the building contained as many as 200 people, and she "hoped she could take out at least half of that."

On multiple occasions during July and August, Bowie was filmed walking around the building, taking pictures of it and the surrounding area.

In August, she met with two other FBI sources, during which she attempted to purchase a firearm and ammunition. Afterward, she purchased supplies for one of the sources to build an explosive device for her, which she planned to conceal inside a DoorDash delivery bag.

After the attack, Bowie reportedly planned to flee to ISIS-controlled territory in Syria to remain until she could return to the U.S. and launch another attack.

The FBI arrested her on August 19 and discovered knives and a handwritten bayah (pledge of allegiance to a leader) on her person. She told the agents, "You guys know enough; there's no helping me. I'm ... going to prison for the rest of my life." ☆

Keeping Kosher

A Jewish man was in a supermarket in Baltimore. He saw an African-American woman trying to get her young child to put down a candy bar he had picked off the shelf.

"Latrell, you put that down! It's not kosher!"

Intrigued, the man asked, "Excuse me, ma'am, are you Jewish?"

"No," she replied.

"So, why did you say that?" the man wondered aloud.

"Because I see all those Jewish mothers saying that to their kids, and it works — so I decided to try it."

The Mountains of Israel book

by Norma Archbold

Once Zola's guest on TV, Archbold presents a refreshing perspective on the Arab-Israeli conflict, especially for those who have studied Israel from a Scriptural view. Enlightening maps, illustrations, charts, and references provide a geographical orientation to the war game of all eternity.

Readers will find eye-opening quotes from witnesses who were in the Holy Land during the 18th and 19th centuries. Their descriptions characterize Israel as a treeless, barren wasteland before the Jewish people's return. Equally helpful to gentiles and Jews, The Mountains of Israel remains valuable reading since it is presented from a Biblical point of view. God's Word and His plan, of course, remain unchanged.
